DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. Before today's sermon, what's the first thing that came to mind when you thought about work?
2. In what ways did today's sermon shape your thinking about work?
3. Have you ever considered that to God, there is no sacred/secular distinction?
4. Since all things are given and governed ultimately by him, how does this shape the way you'll approach your vocational calling?
5. James gave three ways that you could apply today's sermon: your heart, your community, the world. Which one resonates most with you?
6. What are some ways that you could practically apply the answer to question 5 even this week?

Digging Deeper: Here's a short extra read on today's topic that explores the idea of your choice vs. God's call in the area of work:
